If possible, we try to capture as few personal data details as possible at Power2Fly. But we really need some data. Think of the names and e-mail addresses of relations that want to receive our Newsletter. One thing speaks for itself: everything we record personally about you is held and protected in a secure location and we never keep your data longer than necessary. We carefully adhere to the General Data Protection Regulation.

To let you know exactly where you stand and how you can view your data, have it deleted or have it changed, here is an overview of practical information.

Are you a subscriber to our Newsletter?

Then we use your name and e-mail address only for sending the newsletter and the annual report or to invite you for events of our own foundation. In exceptional cases it may happen that we pass on your e-mail address to one of our partners because they want to offer you a (Power2Fly-related) offer. If you would prefer us not to do this, then you can send us an email informing us of your wishes.
